The earth shook, and she knew he would be hers. After many moons of searching across the wild frontier, the spirited Indian Maiden encounters her dashing outlaw. The young Cowboy drew his pistols, but was no match for the tiny squaw. She fired her first arrow and struck him in the heart. The second and third followed, and it was settled that fateful afternoon...she would have him for the rest of their days.

"Well shes no bigger than a corn nubb'n!"
